Ethical criteria for acceptance of papers and posters

For ethical reasons, oral communications and posters to be presented at the EBICC 2015 meeting should not describe, or be justified by means of, invasive experiments involving humans or non-human animals. The SBCC sustains the ethical principle, in accordance with the Cambridge Declaration on Consciousness (2012)ⁱ that, if non-human animals can be considered conscious, then the experimental restrictions applied should be the same as those imposed for experiments involving humans.
